SEVERAL REGIONS CAPTURED

Public Buildings Dynamited and Trains Are Wrecked

BERLIN—(By United Press)—Communist uprisings, spreading rapidly thru mid-Germany, cost 25 lives today.

Police are entrenched in a score of cities to withstand armed attacks. Dynamiting of public buildings, bank robberies and looting accompanied the outbreaks. Germany's radical press urged concerted violence.

The death list included: Seventeen in Hamburg, three in Freiburg and five in Eisleben.

Eisleben was the scene of a particularly violent demonstration. Street fighting broke out there with the police beleaguered in their barracks.

The Frankfurt-Berlin express was delayed when communists tore out a section of track.

THOUSANDS STRIKE
Twenty thousand workers at the big Leuna works went on strike, joining the street crowds and making the work of the police more difficult.

At Hamburg the fighting began when communists urged fellow ship workers to join them in a strike. Police intervened, using their revolvers and rifles.

Two policemen and 15 communists were killed.

Huge bands of communists, joined by lawless elements joined in the looting of banks and postoffices at Wansleben, Mansfield and Leipzig.

Efforts were made to bring security police into action against the uprising.

Fighting in Hamburg began at noon, when lunch hour crowds left the big shipyards.

POLICEMEN KILLED
Fighting violently for a strike, communists precipitated small fist fights, which grew into riots.

Police charged the swirling crowds. The attack on the officers was so serious they were compelled to draw revolvers.

Two policemen were beaten down and killed while the mobs swept over them. The remaining officers fled into the crowds, killing 15 before the streets were cleared.

Hamburg quieted at night with streets heavily guarded. Another day was expected today, but police declared they were able to meet any attacks. Officials bore out their statements.

Three attempts were made to dynamite a court house at Leipzig. Occupants of the building were driven out. The third explosion did great damage to the structure. The nearby streets had been cleared and no casualties resulted.

Three deaths were reported at Leipzig, when a courtesan there was dynamited. Two more persons were wounded in the crashing masonry.

Police beat back a great crowd at Leipzig which stormed a line of officers demanding that the town hall be handed over to them. Revolutionary banners and flags cropped out in the mob.

REBELS IN CONTROL
LONDON—(By Associated Press)—Communist disorders in Central Germany are increasing and are sections of industrial regions are actually in the hands of the insurgents.

Reports from Saxony state that more buildings have been damaged by dynamite in various towns, and that at Mansfield prisoners have been freed and their inmates liberated.

Complete anarchy is declared to reign at Heilsstadt, where all banks have been raided, and from which the population is fleeing in panic.

PROMINENT WOMAN DIES

HEAD SCARF CAUGHT IN CLOTHES WRINGER COGS MINSTER WOMAN DIES

MINSTER—Mrs. Anton Massing, 38, was strangled to death here Tuesday when a scarf she had tied about her head while doing the family washing, was caught in the cogs of a wringer on an electric washing machine and her head drawn against the machine.

The woman's husband is an employee at the Minster Machine Co. plant and the children were absent from home, employed or at school, save a small child, too young to realize what had happened. Children returning from school found their mother dead.

That she had made a desperate effort to release herself from the scarf was evidenced by the fact that there were abrasions on her hands and the washing machine and a tub of water had been overturned by her struggles. Mrs. Massing was the mother of seven children.

Davis' Code Unconstitutional, Opposition Declares

MEASURE SPLITS G. O. P.

Elyria Republican Leads Fight on Governor's Bill

COLUMBUS—(By Associated Press)—Opposition to the passage of Governor Davis' administrative code for the reorganization of the state government was being led today by Senator J. F. Burke, Republican, Elyria, who addressed a letter to the governor last night in which he challenged the constitutionality of the emergency clause on the administrative code and announced that he and other senators would not support it because he said it was depriving the people of their constitutional privilege to review acts of the legislature.

Governor Davis, in a statement replied to Burke, charging him with inconsistency because he voted for the emergency clause on the Miller prohibition commission bill. The governor declared he was for the emergency clause on the prohibition bill and was also for the emergency on the reorganization bill.

ROAD MEN HEARD
The senate committee on reorganization was meeting today with representatives of the Good Roads Association and Automobile Clubs, relative to the proposed department of highways and public works and also those interested in the department of public welfare.

The senate reorganization committee has agreed to make amendments in the code affecting the various state licensing boards which will allow them to continue to operate as at present, but will refuse to make any change in the code with reference to the department of health.

The administrative code is expected to be recommended for passage in the senate next week.

BILLS BEFORE HOUSE
While waiting the report of the taxation committee on the program to be developed from the tax plan submitted by Governor Davis' citizens' committee, the house of representatives today was preparing to wrestle with the Christian Science bill, the minimum wage bill, fishing license bill and a number of local measures and several general ones of lesser importance. The senate had no bills of great importance on its calendar.

The taxation committee expects to be ready to submit its constitutional proposal during the day. The subcommittee, entrusted with the task of drafting the amendment, understood to have abandoned plans to adopt the uniform rule and has tentatively agreed upon a proposal that will adhere to the uniform rule, but with provisions for an income tax and rate limitations. The rate limitations for the general property tax will, if accepted, force the enactment of an income tax, it is said.

House Majority Leader Crabbe announced last night the house will recess next Wednesday. After passing the tax amendment and the election code, to April 11, when it will return to finish its work. Senate Leader Whittemore again refused yesterday to agree to a date for final adjournment, the April 25 had been suggested by Mr. Crabbe.

REDUCE OPERATIONS
LORAIN, O.—The National Tube Company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel Corporation, today announced a twenty per cent reduction in operations beginning Sunday.

More than 8,000 men will go on curtailed working time. One blast furnace will be blown out. A reduction in orders was given as the cause of the curtailment of operations.

'WOULD COST RAIL MEN $6,000,000'

Claim of B. M. Jewell in Attack on Executives' Plan

CITES FIGURES TO BOARD

Requires Services of 5,000 Persons, He Declares

CHICAGO—(By Associated Press)—Negotiating rules and working agreements on each individual railroad, as proposed by the railway executives, would cost the railroad workers more than $6,000,000 and require the services of more than 5,000,000 men, it was stated before the railroad labor board today by B. M. Jewell, president of the American Federation of Labor, in presenting the labor side of the controversy over national rules and agreements.

OUTLINE PLAN
"If the request of the conference committee of managers of the Association of Railway Executives were granted," said Mr. Jewell, "and the national agreement abrogated by decision of the board, remanding the subject matter of rules and working conditions to the respective railroads and committees of their employees for conference on individual lines, the employees conference committee on each railroad would necessarily be composed of at least one man from each craft at each point on the railroad. For the 107 roads listed the figures show that the services of 5,138 committees would be required at a total daily expense of $65,769 and a total expense for 90 days of $5,918,442, besides additional expenses.

FIGURES CITED
"Much of this enormous expense on both railroad management and railroad labor, together with the consumption of valuable time of the highly skilled and essential railroad officials and railroad employees should be eliminated by co-operation by railroad management and the recognized labor board organizations, thus the creation of a conference committee authorized to represent on the one hand railroad management and on the other railroad employees of their particular crafts."

He cited figures to show that 95 per cent of the 455,776 railroad shop employees of class one carriers are members of their respective craft organizations, and declared that since 1912, when the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor was organized, there has not been a single authorized strike of federated shop craft employees.

"It is also significant that during this time," Mr. Jewell said, "the greatest progress toward the attainment of just and reasonable wages and working conditions and uniform rules applying alike to all railroads was made."

"As representing the federated shop crafts employees, we hold that an agreement applying alike to all railroads will be a great if not the greatest factor in assisting to establish efficient and economic railroad operations."

COLUMBUS—Two of the five prisoners who escaped during the jail delivery at the city prison workhouse here Tuesday night, were back on their jobs this morning. Search is still on for the three convicts still at large.

MORE STILLMAN LETTERS FOUND

Written by Fred Beauvais to "Fifi," Charge

NOTES REFER TO 'OUR CHILD'

Offered by Husband as Evidence in Divorce Suit

NEW YORK—(By United Press)—One of the three affidavits filed in the first open court hearing of the Stillman divorce scandal at White Plains yesterday, contained copies of five letters Mrs. "Fifi" Stillman is alleged to have received from Fred Beauvais, French-Canadian guide, whom James A. Stillman charges is the father of Mrs. Stillman's two-year-old son Guy, it was learned authoritatively today.

LETTER TO HUSBAND

These letters, it was said, refer to "our child" and the "joys of parenthood," together with another letter, which Mrs. Stillman is alleged to have written to her multi-millionaire husband, in 1918, in which she is said to have "admitted her error in a fit of hysteria." They are understood to form the main foundation for Stillman's suit to obtain a divorce and establish the alleged illegitimacy of Guy Stillman.

DECISION MONDAY

The full text of these letters is expected to be made public Monday, when Justice Morschauer is scheduled to announce his decision on Mrs. Stillman's application for increase of alimony to $10,000 a month and counsel fees of $75,000. It is also possible that Mrs. Stillman's amended answer to her husband's suit, filed in White Plains late yesterday, in which she is understood to have made countercharges against Stillman and "Mrs. Florence Leeds," will be given full publicity.

"Mrs. Leeds," who left Miami, Fla., with her infant son, "Jay Leeds," last week, at the same time that Stillman's yacht Modesty disappeared from its anchorage off that town, was reported today to have been seen at Palm Beach. At the latter place it was rumored that she expects to return at once to Miami.

NAT. CAPITAL CASE

SAN FRANCISCO—Absolute denial that he had been consulted in any way by the litigants in the Stillman divorce controversy was made today by Dr. Albert Abrams to the United Press. This statement was in answer to reports in the east that Dr. Abrams had been brought into the case and would, by means of the oscilloscope determine the paternity of Guy Stillman.

Dr. Abrams did not deny that the case had been called to the attention of Dr. Sigman Halper, his representative, but emphasized that he himself had not been called into the case.

HARDING TO THANK PACKING-MEN

President Pleased at Settlement of Threatened Strike

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press)—Expressions of gratification were general today in administration circles over the successful settlement thru the mediation of Secretary Davis of the dispute between the five big packers and their union employees—the first major labor controversy to come up for adjustment under the new administration. Representatives of both sides who signed the settlement agreement yesterday had been invited to meet President Harding at the White House today, when it was understood the president desired to express his thanks for the spirit of co-operation said to have been manifested thruout the three days of conferences which led to the agreement.

Compromises by both the packers and their employees made possible a settlement of the dispute. Representatives of the latter agreed to accept the wage reduction of eight cents an hour and 12 1/2 per cent for piece work, while the packers met the demand of the workers for extension of the war-time arbitration agreement for six months, or until September 15. The other major provision of the agreement was the retention of the basic eight hour day and overtime rates as provided.

HEAD OF CATHOLIC CHURCH IN U. S. DEAD

CARDINAL GIBBONS

PROPERTY OWNERS TO PAY $1,000 IN LIQUOR CASES

Owners of property in Lima where in violations of the liquor law have taken place are liable for the levying of a $1,000 tax and steps are being taken to collect the tax, according to a letter received Thursday by Mayor F. A. Burkhardt from State Prohibition Commissioner Don B. Parker, Columbus.

Mayor Burkhardt received a request from Parker for a list of names of owners of property here, the occupants of which have been arrested for violations of the liquor laws.

MAYOR TO FURNISH LIST

"I shall proceed at once to secure a list of the names of property owners asked for," Mayor Burkhardt said Thursday. "Parker evidently means business and I will assist him in every way possible. There have been several instances that I recall where owners of 'dry bars' have been arrested and fined for liquor law violations, but the owners of the property have escaped responsibility under the law that Parker now proposes to invoke as a further aid in the enforcement of prohibition. His action will hit them."

"I understand that there is question as to whether the owners of the places referred to had previous knowledge of liquor law violations being carried on in their premises, but that probably will not excuse them. There are other instances where the men fined for violations are the owners of the property. In such cases there is no doubt but that they will be assessed an additional $1,000. If Parker's determination is carried into effect."

PROVISIONS OF LAW

Section 6071 of the General Code carries provision for the levying of such a tax. The law plainly states that a $1,000 tax shall be assessed against the owner of the property where the liquor laws have been violated.

SUIT IS FILED TO TEST WAGE CUT

CHICAGO—(By Associated Press)—A test suit to determine what authority the federal railroad labor board may have in backing up its ruling that the railroads may not reduce wages until after conference with employees, was filed in federal court here today by Attorney Randolph W. Walton and W. S. Pealer, representing 1,200 employees of four subsidiary lines of the New York Central railroad.

The action is brought by Cecil E. Jewell, a member of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance Employees of the Toledo and Ohio Central railroad, and is said to be the first attempt made in the country to get the court's interpretation of the powers of the labor board.

The defendants are the Toledo and Ohio Central, the Zanesville and Western, the Kanawha and Michigan, and the Kanawha and West Virginia railroads.

Maintenance of way employees and laborers of the lines have been notified their wages will be decreased approximately 25 per cent April 1, the petition said.

The notification is of a peremptory nature, the attorneys said. Federal Judge Sater has set Monday, March 28, for a hearing.

FALLS VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

Primate of American Catholic Church Expires in Baltimore

NEARING 87 YEARS OF AGE

Wielded Strong Influence Thruout World as Churchman

BALTIMORE, Md.—(By Associated Press)—James Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore and primate of the American Catholic church, died at the arch-episcopal residence here today after a prolonged illness which mainly affected his heart. He was in his 87th year.

The end came peacefully at 11:33 o'clock.

Beside the cardinal's bed stood every member of his household, and when it was seen that the distinguished prelate had passed away, the priests fell to their knees and began reciting the prayers for the dead.

Telegrams were at once sent to Pope Benedict at Rome, Monsignor John Bonzano, apostolic delegate at Washington, and to every prelate of the American Catholic hierarchy, more than a hundred in number, informing them of the cardinal's death. As it is expected that most of the church dignitaries in the United States will attend, it is probable that the funeral will not take place much inside of a week.

TOUCHING INCIDENT

Cardinal Gibbons had been unconscious and in a dying condition for the last 24 hours. A slight hope was raised among his friends and associates last evening when his pulse grew stronger, but this rally was only temporary, and was merely an evidence of the cardinal's remarkable vitality.

A touching incident in connection with the last hours of the cardinal was the bestowal of the pope's benediction upon him, which had just been received by cable from Rome.

The cardinal's death was a loss to the church, and his memory will be remembered by those who knew him. His death was a great blow to the church in this country.

STRONG INFLUENCE

Cardinal Gibbons, as senior Bishop of the church, wielded a strong influence outside as well as within the United States. The confidant of three popes, he made several important trips to Rome, the last in August, 1914, a few days after the opening of the war, to elect the successor to Pius X. He arrived too late, however, to participate in the ceremony that elevated Benedict to the Pontificate.

ON PEACE MISSION

Upon returning to the United States he visited President Wilson, informed the latter of affairs in Europe and discussed means to bring about peace. The Cardinal was strongly interested in the affairs of the church in Mexico during the troublous times in that country and declared that he feared fighting would never cease under the Carranza regime. It was in a speech on the subject of his efforts that the condition of the clergy and nuns of Mexico.

Cardinal Gibbons was active in his work for the Allies in the war and in a letter written to the Catholics of the archdiocese of New York in 1917 when the United States entered the conflict, urged the fullest support of the government. A few months previously he sent $10,000 to the American committee in London for the relief of the Belgians, one of the many noble instances of his benevolence. In a sermon at Baltimore, in 1918, he praised the speech by Lloyd George and said that Germany's war aims would fail. About the same time he explained Benedict's war policy, an article which he translated and published broadcast in it he asserted sympathy with the Allied aim of winning the war "for permanent peace." To achieve this result he also expressed opposition to a cessation of hostilities which might mean a truce overtures.

50TH ANNIVERSARY

Celebrating his 50th anniversary as Bishop in Baltimore, on October 21, 1918, an event attended by ecclesiastics from all over the world, he received among other gifts the decoration of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor from France. Italy also decorated him. A month later he joined with former President Roosevelt, both of whom had been friends for years, in a message of cheer to the American Expeditionary Forces.

He celebrated his 72nd anniversary as Cardinal-Archbishop and the 50th year of his priesthood. Cardinal Mercier, the heroic primate of Belgium, visited him on this occasion.

$675,000.00 PAID IN ON INCOME TAXES

WASHINGTON—Income and profit tax collections for the March 15th installment was estimated by Secretary Mellon today to aggregate $675,000,000. To the close of business March 22, $550,000,000 has actually been deposited from the collection, Mr. Mellon added.

Mr. Mellon estimated on this basis that total revenue from income and profits taxes for the fiscal year ending June 30 would aggregate $3,650,000,000. This amount, he said, was fully up to the treasury expectations.

Suspicion was directed to Tennent
from the very start, police say, but he could not be located. Aupauque-
co, officers learned that the White woman had left her employment in Dayton and had gone to Cleveland.
By means of a letter the address of the White woman was found by Cleveland police and it is said that she disclosed the whereabouts of Tennent.

Only a small portion of the loot
from the Weber gambling joint was recovered with the arrest of Whitford, who claimed that his partner
had all of the $7,000 save $250,
which they were to divide later.

LOOKING FOR LOOT

Officials at Wapakoneta stated
Thursday that Deputy Sheriff May's return from Cleveland was being delayed in an effort to secure the money Tennent is alleged to have hidden away. Just how much evidence there is against Tennent as being one of the robbers is not dis-

UNIFORM TAX RULE WINS VICTORY

Agreed On As Solution of Tangle
at Columbus

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — The house taxation committee today reported out a uniform tax rule, which provides for some taxation problem, which provides for retention of the uniform
rule. Adherents to the uniform rule acclaimed the proposal as a victory for their cause over those who proposed to abolish the uniform
rule.

Members of the house taxation
committee and the governor's citizens' taxation committee are said to have reached the conclusion that it would be futile to attempt to adopt the proposal as it was recommended by the governor's committee which has abolished the uniform rule.

The newest proposal provides for an income tax and also provides that whenever a general income tax shall be in effect, any property, the income from which is taxed under the law, may be exempt wholly or partly from tax under the uniform rule. It provides for a limitation on the tax rate in cities of 15 mills and 12 mills in the rural districts, and exempts bonds of the state or any subdivision or school bonds authorized by the people, outstanding on January 1, 1913.

GOVERNOR CHEERS LIMA PARTY

Promise Indicates He Won't Approve Herrick's Order

"DON'T ROCK THE BOAT"

Allen-co Has Good Hope of Getting Road Money

"We have every assurance in the world that Allen-co will not lose her $205,000 federal aid money for road construction work, ordered tipped off by state highway commissioner Leon Herrick," said J. Kennard Johnson, manager of the Lima Chamber of Commerce and one of the band of good roads boosters from Lima that stormed Governor Harry Davis and Commissioner Herrick at the state capitol Wednesday.
"Altho commissioner Herrick gave us no hope whatever, Governor Davis
voiced every assurance that Allen-co will be taken care of. He told us we should not worry, but to go home and not 'rock the boat.'"
OTHER COUNTIES LOSE
It is explained that there are several counties in the state that have suffered an amputation of federal aid
money at the hands of Commissioner Herrick and the Governor has to have good grounds to grant one a favor and not the others. He must also appease Herrick.

The Governor has the "say so" in the matter for no order of Herrick's
is valid without the Governor's O. K.
Herrick's attitude is that congress will give no more federal aid if he allows the counties to use the money
individually and that by taking it
from them and building state highways, from Columbus to Buffalo and Columbus to Cincinnati, Ohio will win favor with congress and that body will pass the Sells bill granting more federal aid money and then the counties can have their money back.

The county representatives pointed out that their roads construction campaign for the spring had been based on this federal aid appropriation
and that taking it away ruined everything. Allen-co further showed that $133,000 of its federal aid is to be used on the Harding Highway,
really a state highway and endorsed
by President Harding himself.
DAVIS FAVORS PLAN
It is understood that Governor Davis
looks with favor upon the plans
of Allen-co and the Harding Highway
association and that if he can assist Allen-co without offending others,
he will do it.

Governor Davis was much impressed with the personnel of the delegation from Allen-co which included farmers, public officials, business men and manufacturers. The trip was made by a special interurban
car.

LIMA MEN TO ATTEND
THE MURDOCK FUNERAL

E. R. Curtin and D. J. Cable, of Lima, accompanied by Hobart Scott and L. S. Neely, of St. Marys, will attend the funeral of the late Samuel Murdock at Lafayette, Ind., Friday. Murdock, well known for his connections with the oil and gas
business, died in Indianapolis, Ind.
Samuel Murdock was formerly the owner of the Lima gas lines, purchased from Samuel Baxter, when the supply was secured from the St.
Marys field. Later the pipe lines were extended into Mercer-co and on into Indiana. Supply was afterward drawn from the Sugar Grove district
and later from the Medina field.
His holdings in the gas business locally and in the territory to the south were sold five years ago to the Medina Gas Co. and the Lima Natural Gas Co. Murdock was well known in Lima, having been a visitor here often during the past few years. His home was in Indianapolis, but interment of his body will take place at Lafayette, where the family resided for years.

COPPER'S 'BILLY' RESPECTED

French Police Should Adopt
American "Persuader,"

By NEWTON C. PARKE
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS — Demand that the French
police study and apply American methods of handling gunmen is coming from all sides since the recent killing of three Paris policemen by a notorious Apache, who was himself killed the following day.

Maurice Dekobra, well known French writer, who recently returned from an extensive tour of the United States, has issued an open letter inquiring why the Paris police do not use the same harsh methods employed in repressing gangsters in New York and Chicago. He uses sarcastic criticism in describing the "polite" manner in which Paris "agents"
deal with known desperadoes.

"In the United States it is well understood that the life of a policeman is worth more than that of a criminal," writes Dekobra. "That seems a daring theory to us."

"Suppose that a desperado is being tracked by the New York police and detected and found in one of his haunts. Do you think that they walk up to him, tap him on the shoulder
and say, 'Would you be good enough to accompany us to prison?' Not at
all. They close in brusquely, shout
'Hands up!' and if their man doesn't obey instantly they send several bullets into his legs, or higher if necessary. Bacquet (the Apache who killed the three Paris policemen) would have had no chance in New York.
THAT AMERICAN 'PERSUADER'
"There is no joking with the police in the United States. In the first place, instead of arming them with the ridiculous weapon we give our men, the police officials serve out wooden clubs, excellent weapons for bringing offenders to their senses."

One night I saw a single policeman
in New York leading a dangerous man to the station. It would have required three Paris policemen for the same work. When this criminal attempted some sharp work with a knife the policeman simply knocked him down with his club, blew his whistle and had him in an instant.
It was all done neatly and rapidly.

"I remember an experience I had in Indianapolis. I had killed no one;
neither was I drunk. My only crime
was to cut across a street intersection on the bias, instead of taking it
at right angles, according to Indianapolis police regulations. I had just reached the center of the street when a whistle blew. I was seized roughly by the shoulders, turned about and forced to do the march over and in the right way. This policeman carried a club and I know now that the fear of being punished is the beginning of all wisdom."

W. B. JONES LOSES SUIT

William M. Jones, owner of the farm tenanted by F. R. Miskell, lost his suit against George W. Luce,
administrator of the Miskell estate,

Jones sued to collect rent charged as unpaid. He had failed to take in his farm produce delivered to him
by Miskell in his life-time. It appears. The jury held these articles must be included in the accounting.

GERMANY WARNED BY ALLIES

Must Pay Indemnity As Demanded,
She is Told

NEW PENALTIES THREATENED

Request For Experts To Fix
Amount is Denied

PARIS — (By Associated Press) —
The German government was notified
by the allied reparations commission today, that the total amount of 20,000,000,000 gold marks due
under Article 235 of the peace treaty, must be paid by May 1, or additional penalties will be inflicted upon Germany.

The commission in its note says
there is nothing in the treaty of Versailles which obliges it to hear the German government on the conditions under which the deliveries to make up the twenty billion mark
payment to the allies (which Article 235 of the peace treaty stipulated should be paid by Germany by May
1) should be made or appraised.

(The Germans in their note delivered Wednesday asked that a joint commission of experts fix the value of the German deliveries on reparation account, which they claimed already more than equalled the twenty billion marks total, while the reparations commission figures showed a balance of twelve billion marks
due. It was pointed out in allied quarters, however, that the German experts already had been heard by the commission before it fixed the valuation of the German credited payments against the twenty billion marks.)

The note adds that the commission waited as long as possible before demanding payment by Germany, thinking the German government would take the necessary
measures faithfully to fulfill its obligations under Article 235.

The commission is now persuaded,
however, it says, that such is not the case.
The commission states that it demanded the payment by March 23 of one billion marks in gold to apply
on the reparations account because of a certainty that Germany possessed sufficient funds to make immediate payment.
The note concludes by saying that
in any event the total amount of the 20,000,000,000 gold mark payment
must be handed over between now and May 1, and that non-payment of the amount will entail penalties.
The German government is considered as defaulting in fulfillment of its undertakings, the communication declares, and therefore the commission has decided immediately to call the attention of all the interested powers to such failure.

I heard of this wonderful tonic, Nerv-Worth and purchased a bottle, and I got relief from the start. I go to bed now like a real person, and all the pains are gone around my side and heart. Use Iodine For Skin Irritations

Pimples and Blemishes Vanish

If people would only have iodine in the home at all times for a family remedy, they would nip in the bud many serious afflictions and always have an antiseptic and healing remedy for everyday accidents and ailments, says a woman who speaks after many years' experience in raising a large family. "Take Eczema for instance," she says, "we used to call it St. Anthony's fire when I was young. The red, irritated swollen skin, the itching and burning are maddening, and iodine is the remedy."

Physicians are practically unanimous in recommending iodine. They prefer it in its best form—Lanolated Iodine Compound—which is soothing, healing and powerful, yet never irritates or blisters, and is practically stainless. It is quickly absorbed into the tissues and glands, usually giving prompt relief. Druggists have this agreeable iodine ointment and gladly recommend it as it gives unusual satisfaction. Be sure to get Lanolated Iodine for best results.—Adv.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated poisons, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved and expelled from the body.

When this idea in mind he consulted physicians made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every skin ailment and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave this discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Hunter's Drug Stores, Enterprise Drug Store have been appointed agent for Allen's in this vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they received no benefit.—Adv.

the east and on the south sides of the city. The property to the east side is located between Elm-st. and Bellefontaine-ave and is owned by E. B. Hardin. Over 200 lots will be laid out there and sold by this company. The other section to be opened lies along the Dixie Highway, south of the Garford plant. It has a half mile frontage on this road and will be laid out in acre lots. At the present time between 50 and 60 of these lots will be platted. The land is owned by W. J. Ritchie and is part of a 75 acre tract recently acquired by him from E. A. Dean and B. S. Flowers thru the Elmer D. Webb Co. LIMA IS PREFERRED

When the present business depression hit Akron all development along real estate lines came to an abrupt stop. The fact that the rubber industries were the chief cause of the rapid expansion of the city and also were the hardest hit by the recent wave of deflation, worked a hardship to those employed there. The recovery in this single line of business is apt to be a long and slow one and as a result new building and land development is at a standstill.

In looking over the cities of Ohio, which have been affected the least by the industrial depression and whose recovery was expected to be the most rapid, Torrance, Sowers & Beamish, the biggest and most progressive firm in Akron, chose Lima as one of the most promising of all.

INGROWN NAIL

Toe Nail Turns Out Itself if You Toughen Skin

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight. "Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.—Adv.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. I tried one but it was no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned. I am doing hard work as a car-timer. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble. I have nothing to tell but will give full information about it without operation. If you write to me, I will give you a complete cure without operation. Write to me at Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 846-G, Macmillan Avenue, Manhattan, N. Y. Better cut out this notice and show it to any others who are ruptured—you may save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Adv.

FROM MOVIES TO PLAN TO BACK UP SANDWICHES

U. S. DEMANDS

Dreamland Theatre, Screen Landmark, to Pass

State and War Secretaries Confer on German Situation

5-CENT PICTURES RECALLED

Mary Pickford and Owen Moore Were First Favorites

Another landmark will pass out of existence, April first, when the Dreamland theatre, southeast corner of the public square, will be transformed into a high class "sandwich shop."

This theatre was started in 1903 by W. B. Gandy, at a time when a full show consisted of a single reel of film, many times not more than half as long as the reel of today, and the admission price charged was five cents. At the beginning, the subject matter was generally some object, such as a railway locomotive, showing motion and, as such, was a novelty and drew packed houses. It was in this theatre that Mary Pickford, Ford Sterling, Owen Moore, Blanche Sweet, and many others made their first screen appearance in this city.

CUTLINT KEEP PACE

When the industry grew and more pretentious "picture palaces" became the order of the day, the old Dreamland did not keep up with the procession. Its capacity was too small and because of conditions could not very well enlarge. It passed from the hands of Gandy into the possession of G. O. Dupuis, who in turn transferred it and the Royal theatre to George Mollers. It is interesting to note that Dupuis, who is now secretary of the Elmer D. Webb Co., was the one who negotiated the deal whereby the lease was transferred.

Conk and Anderson, of Sidney, who have purchased the lease, are the owners of several of these specialized "sandwich shops." A place of this character handles only sandwiches and does nothing else. This is an innovation for Lima and the new proprietors believe it will be as popular here as elsewhere.

WASHINGTON — (By United Press)

Secretary of State Hughes and Secretary of War Weeks will hold several conferences in the next few weeks on steps to make effectual the demand of the United States that Germany surrender Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, wealthy Philadelphia draft dodger, and release the men imprisoned in Germany for trying to capture him.

News that such a demand had been made was carried exclusively yesterday by the United Press. While neither Hughes nor Weeks would discuss the action of this government today, it was learned from other officials that the war department will leave "no stone unturned" to secure Bergdoll. It was pointed out that a campaign to catch more than 100,000 draft evaders is just being launched and that authorities cannot afford to let the defiance of a rich man go unchallenged while apprehending those of less means.

The belief prevailed that Germany finally will surrender Bergdoll but that the Berlin government is hesitating to take such action because of popular outcry that would follow. This government, however, will present its demands, it was stated.

War department officials were awaiting a complete report on the Bergdoll case and the attempt to capture him, from General Henry R. Allen, commander of the American army of occupation. This report may give some new facts about the attempt of Carl Neut and Franz Zimmer to take the draft evader.

HENRY FORD'S NEW IDEA

TRUNDLING thru Lima Wednesday afternoon, from north to south, en route from Napoleon to Springfield, came a new fan-dangled form of passenger car, designed by Henry Ford, flivver king of the north, driven by an electric motor, power for which is generated in a dynamo propelled by a gasoline engine, not altogether unlike the motor in the Ford auto, only of a later and amplified edition.

This car of Henry's isn't the first of its kind. 'Twas many years ago that the management of the T. St. L. & W. Railroad (better known as the Clover Leaf Route) conceived the idea that the principle of gasoline driven cars was about to revolutionize transportation problems and a completely equipped car was given a tryout on the company's lines, passing thru western Allen-co in the course of its initial trip, on the rails of the Clover Leaf.

It was widely heralded; its first trip was a triumphal "march" thru three states. But it was never heard of again. It wasn't adopted for use on that railroad and the old time snorting steam locomotives are still hauling and dragging freight and passenger cars in the same old way.

But that hasn't anything whatever to do with Ford's latest idea, given a tryout over his privately owned lines Wednesday. Henry had a knack of making something succeed where others can't. It may be that he is opening the door that means the revolutionizing of transportation problems, by the use of gasoline in the production of electricity for power instead of coal for making steam.

In due season Henry will let the world know whether his idea is a success or a failure. He made good with his auto; his tractor is a success and there is no reason now for anyone to venture the assertion that he won't be able to make his gasoline railroad car all that his dreams embrace. If he can succeed in operating such cars at less cost than steam trains or even electric cars with power thru the trolley system, he's destined to be able to overturn and render topsy turvy all transportation problems.

There'll be no small amount of interest and anticipation until Ford makes announcement of the success of his new plan or silently admits its failure by putting an end to experiments. Henry doesn't keep dead horses.

HARDING AND IRISH QUESTION

PRESIDENT HARDING has made clear his stand on the Irish question so far as the United States government is concerned. His policy of hands off was expressed a few days ago in a note concerning a St. Patrick's day celebration to John F. Harrigan, president of the Massachusetts council of the American Association for Recognition of the Irish Republic.

His attitude conforms with his position assumed during the campaign when the matter was brought before him. His words to Mr. Harrigan will stand, it is assumed, as a precedent for all future occasions concerning this great problem.

MISS LIMA: The question that is now agitating the minds of the people of Ohio most is: "What is an emergency?"

CRABBE GETS A SAMPLE

WHEN the Ohio General Assembly adopted with eclat a search and seizure liquor law, its promoters probably never dreamed that the self-same law would be brought into play for an investigation of members of that body, but such a thing has come to pass.

It occurred when a group of the members of the state law making body were returning in an auto from the inspection of a state institution. A liquor law enforcement official held up the party in Jesse James fashion at the point of a wicked looking gun and proceeded to ransack the innermost recesses of the touring car, in search of liquor.

The officer found no liquor, but the humiliation of the members of the party was none the less marked. It so happened that the author of the drastic law was a member of the party held up under its provisions by a legally delegated agent of organized society.

The incident referred to serves to afford a demonstration of the possibilities of the new law. Had the officer been possessed of the knowledge that none other than the Hon. Mr. Crabbe was an occupant of the auto, he would have recognized the fact that the author of the law he was invoking would scarcely be so foolhardy as to carry red liquor about in a touring car. But that made no difference. The officer was out to "get" somebody with "something on." He had no ground for suspicion that the particular auto party carried snake bite cure.

Those who drive abroad at night are between two fires. When ordered by strangers to stop, the conclusion of the driver is that a holdup is about to be staged. If he sees a chance of getting away, he'll take it. If it is a party of prohibition enforcement officers making the demand, it's quite likely that a fusillade of shots will follow and somebody will be injured or killed. Several such cases have occurred.

It is quite likely that the Hon. Mr. Crabbe and his colleagues will now realize how other people in the state of Ohio feel about the law which puts them at the mercy of auto bandits if they heed every order to stop while driving in an auto at night.

HAYS' NEW ORDER

THE new Postmaster General has set out to "humanize" the postal department. He has expressed his views on the subject and appears to have some very good ideas concerning what he wants to accomplish.

He recently sent out an order that postmasters are to take an active interest in their communities with the view of securing cooperation from the public and in this way make the mail service better. Postmasters are urged to participate in all civic affairs, local chamber of commerce work as well as boards of trade, commercial clubs, etc.

If Hays can succeed in bringing his department closer to the public than it has been and get the cooperation which should exist in the matter of handling mail he will have accomplished something worth while. Much depends on those who use the mail service for the speed with which their letters and packages are delivered. In this connection proper addressing, return address, wrapping and mailing at a time when the rush is lightest in their particular office play a big part.

JUST FOLKS—BY EDGAR A. GUEST

EXPECTANT

There's a stack of glad tomorrows
round the corner over there
And Miss Spring is getting ready, trying blossoms in her hair;
The I've had my share of trouble,
and full reason to complain.
There's a lot of joy before me when
the warm days come again.

There's a lot of fun before me, and
I'm standing at my door Counting eagerly the pleasures which
the Springtime has in store;
The some days were long and dreary,
I am living now to see
The woods in all their splendor and
the blue skies over me.

There are times I've been discouraged, times I've thought life's charm had fled,
There were even times I've whispered
that I might as well be dead;
But the sun is getting higher, and
the buds break on the bough,
And with Springtime getting nearer,
there's a lot to live for now.

YOUR NAME

By PHILIP FRANCES NOWLAN
VARIATION—Lorraine
RACIAL ORIGIN—English.
SOURCE—An occupation.
THIS family name is one which dates from the days of Norman domination in England. It was originally the mere description of occupation, added to a man's given name,
to distinguish him from other men
of the same given name.
It is in this manner that a very large classification of modern family names came into being through the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth centuries.
Often such a descriptive appellation would, thru common usage, develop into a family name during the first generation, so that in the minds of speakers the name would designate the man directly, and its reference to his calling be lost sight of.
Sometimes it would not be until the second or third generations that this almost intangible change would take place. One vital factor in the stabilization of names was the fact that so often the sons followed the same occupation as the father under the social and industrial conditions of feudal days.
In its earlier and descriptive form
the name of Lorraine, or Lorrimer, appears as "Le Lorrimer," the "le"
being the same as the modern French
"le," and meaning "the." Even at a very early period, however, its use of omission appears to have been optional with the speaker. It was, of course, entirely dropped, as soon as
the name became a family name.
The "Lorrimer" was one who made
bits for horses.
Tomorrow—Ogilvie.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

MEAT

Drugs habitues, such as alcohol and tobacco users will confidently expect me to say that meat is bad for the kidneys, livers and lights.

Whatever I may say about meat,
understand this clearly: I eat it
once a day when I can get it.
A young lady—I got a lot of letters from her asking me whether light meats, such as veal chops, all meat or faying size chicken, every day, would cause kidney trouble. She goes on:

"I have been informed that these meats would give one kidney trouble, so I have started eating frying chicken every day."

Now, wouldn't that tickle a butcher?

Beefsteak is no more meat than is frying or any other size chicken;
and chicken is no less meat than is
the freshest egg ever born outside of China that is more or less meat than fish is. These several kinds of meat vary in taste, and carry in nutritive value from eggs down thru steak and chicken to oysters, which are mighty poor nutriment for the money.

For all physiological, nutritive or health purposes beefsteak, oysters,
eggs, fowls and little red herrings
are distinctions some people make between them. It is amusing to hear people calling themselves vegetarians while making and eating eggs

that are fuller of meat than any cow that ever roamed the pasture. It is funny to hear others telling how
they "have been told" to eat no meat,
as they still into a helping of plunked
trout or something equally nutritive.

There is a popular notion that cow meat is bad for the kidneys or some other inward. Thereas sheepmeat, hen-meat, fish-meat and wild meat is all right to eat. It seems that many years ago some "sage"
but, misguided theorist, conceived
the fancy that the dark or red meats
were laden with uric acid, whereas white meats were not. All a huge mistake. The color of your meat is immaterial; about the only nitrogenous foods which do not give rise to any considerable amount of uric
acid are cheese, bread, oatmeal, rice,
nuts, milk, cream, butter, eggs, of course butter contains little nitrogenous material, peas, beans, en-viar and bananas.

We should thank fortune that there is plenty of purin (nitrogenous
material from which uric acid
may be derived) in such wholesome
and nutritious articles as liver, sardines, chicken, oysters, veal, mutton,
pork and beef.

CONNIE TALMADGE STAR IN "MAMMA'S AFFAIR"

Play Has Fine Little Plot, But Is Prolonged and Story Has Uncertain Ending

Forecast of Vaudeville and Screen Attractions Coming to Lima Houses

(By ESTHER WAGNER.)

"MAKE IT snappy" is a good motto for everyone to use, even movie directors. The picture "Mamma's Affair," if not so prolonged, would assuredly recommend itself more highly to the seasoned movie fan.

The picture is an adaptation of a play with a meaty little plot. The subtitles, by John Emerson and Anita Loos, are clever. Photography, sets, etc., are all that could be asked for and the players are experienced and well cast. Constance Talmadge, you know, is the star performer. But because someone didn't know how to finish what he started out to do, the story has a rather uncertain ending. The last two reels are like the visitor who starts in at 11 p. m. to say, "Well, I just must be getting along. I never dreamed it was this late," and keeps on saying it with variations until 1 a. m., when he finally departs. But to get to the story:

Mamma is a neurotic who has feared that nothing is impossible to a woman if she learns the art of hysterics. And certainly mamma had the art down pat. She has a sweet, nervous smile and martyred eyes and completely controlled the comedy and tragedy of her family by her terrible "spells." The one who suffers most, however, is her darling daughter, Eve.

Mamma has a dear friend, much like herself who has dear little son, and two mammas conspire to have their precious children marry each other. The son is a pill, and to call him that is not very complimentary to the pill. Daughter, of course, objects, but mamma has only to throw a fit or two and all objections are overcome.

But the wedding, my dears, never takes place, and that it does not is due to the timely appearance of a young doctor who puts daughter wise in her mother and ultimately wins her.

Miss Talmadge is pretty and appealing most of the time but she seems in get tired towards the end. Effie Shannon as the mother is splendid. You've seen her type again and again. Kenneth Harlan is the doctor. Without a doubt he's the best leading man Connie has ever had.

"Mamma's Affair" as a whole, stacks up as a creditable program picture.

FACTS ABOUT "LYING LIPS"

It is Thomas H. Ince's most colossal production since "Civilization".

It was nearly five months in the making, and engaged thousands of people for the many, triumphant, spectacular scenes.

With the single exception of "Way Down East", it is the most costly cinema sensation produced during the year 1920.

It boasts one of the season's most trustworthy casts, headed by House Peters, Florence Vidor and Joseph Kilgour.

Many of the scenes were personally directed by Thomas H. Ince. The entire production from its inception to its completion, was under the close personal supervision and actual contact of Thomas H. Ince.

A fashion parade of gowns and modes unequalled in all the history of stage and screen is gorgeously revealed before the eyes of audiences. The cost of the fashions alone, as records will prove to those interested, would be sufficient for the production of an average program picture.

It incorporates feats of engineering and technique remarkable even for the prowess of the screen. For the Neptune Court scene alone, a corps of two hundred skilled men worked nine days and four nights.

The U. S. Battleship "Minneapolis," sailing Pacific waters, was loaned by the Government for the photographing of the scenes depicting a fearful disaster on the high seas. The entire "Minneapolis" crew of officers and three hundred and eighty-two Jackies performed before the camera under the direction of Thomas H. Ince.

A battery of five cameras photographed every scene in "Lying Lips". For eleven scenes, seven cameras were placed on platforms at various angles of vantage. For three scenes, exactly fourteen cameras were in action under the leadership of Charles Stumar and Henry Sharp two famous cinematographers.

It has a supreme love story that will never be forgotten by the public. It has daring situations that picture Life and Love as it actually, fearlessly exists.

It bears Thomas H. Ince's personal gilt-edge endorsement as being his most amazing, colorful, spectacular accomplishment in his entire career as a producer and "maker of stars." It is the Photodramatic Accomplishment of the Ages!

KNITTED DRESS IS BECOMING POPULAR FOR SPORTS WEAR

(By Elaine)

The "sweater suit," as this frock is called, is being put out by both knitting factories and dressmakers. It is finding favor especially for sports wear. Late spring and early summer will find many of them at the beach, in the mountains and on the famous board walks. They may be worn as a separate skirt or blouse and come in pretty color combinations.

Here is a very charming model made of white wool with a brilliant Roman stripe border on both blouse and skirt edge. The skirt is knitted in a fancy weave to give the effect of plait, but the blouse is a plain sweater weave. There are often pearls and knitted hints to match these pretty frocks. In the larger cities where indoor ice skating is popular many of these frocks are being worn and they will make very smart and comfortable costumes for vacation and motor boating in the cool of summer evenings.

RECIPES FOR A DAY
Brown Betty—Two cups finely chopped apples, one-half cup brown sugar, one-half cup bread crumbs, cinnamon, nutmeg, butter substitute.

Butter baking dish. Put in layer of apples, sprinkle with sugar, bread crumbs and spices. Dot with butter substitute. Repeat this process until all materials are used, finishing with bread crumbs on top. Cover and bake forty-five minutes. Remove cover and let brown on top. Serve with cream. This is a timely dish and very inexpensive, using up odds and ends of stale bread.

Ham Loaf—Two tablespoons bacon fat, one-quarter cup stale bread crumbs, two-thirds cup milk, one cup chopped cooked ham, one-half tablespoon chopped parsley, two eggs, salt, pepper.

Melt bacon fat, add crumbs and milk and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Add ham, parsley and eggs slightly beaten. Season with salt and pepper. Turn into greased baking dish and bake in a slow oven twenty minutes.

Potato Salad—Dice cold potatoes, add three hard boiled eggs cut into eighths, one-half small onion, scraped, one-half cup canned peas (rinsed in cold water), one-half cup celery cut into small pieces, two tablespoons chile sauce or ripe tomato pickle.

Mix with French dressing (two tablespoons olive oil, one tablespoon vinegar, salt, paprika) and let stand one-half hour or more. Just before serving mix with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce.

IN LOVE WITH A MARRIED WOMAN

(By SUSIE SMART)

Dear Miss Smart: I am a young man. I love a young woman. She is married, but I have known her for years and have always loved her. I cannot live without her. She knows I love and adore her and yet she doesn't care. What can I do to make her return my love? AN UNHAPPY MAN

SURELY your conscience and your sense of what is right and what is wrong should tell you that you can't "make" her love you; that since she is married, you have no right to express your love to her. Of course, she does not care for you; at least as you would have her. She is married and probably happy with her husband and has no room in her life for you. You know she is not free to accept any attentions from you and if your love for her was unselfish, you would not make her unhappy and miserable by forcing yourself upon her when she has told you that she does not care for you. Accept her statement in regard to her feeling toward you and do not insult her and disgrace her by your attentions.

Do not be so foolish! Of course, you can live without her. You must! You say you have known her for years and have loved her. If you loved her so much why didn't you marry her when she was free to accept your love? There is nothing for you to do now. Determine that you will forget her and that you will live without her. It will be hard, of course, but remember you are in the wrong in trying to force your love upon a married woman.

If you see her often it will be that much harder for you and very embarrassing to her. The best thing for you to do is to leave town; accept a position to which you can devote most of your time and thoughts and remember that there are lots and lots of unmarried girls and women in the world.

Dear Miss Smart: (1) How do you fix white-wash so the rain won't wash it off? (2) Is there any harm in square dancing? (3) Which do you think is the more stylish way for a boy to wear his hair, straight back or parted on the side? (4) Can you tell me why Easter doesn't come on the same day each year, like Christmas? (5) Will you please tell me what games are nice to play at a school party? (6) What is nice to use to wave the hair without breaking it off? (7) Do you think there is harm in going fishing on Sunday? I do.

EYES OF BLUE
(1) This was answered in Wednesday's edition of the paper. (2) None what so ever. (3) Which ever style is the more becoming to him. (4) In accord with the decree of the Council of Nice, Easter day is always the first Sunday after the full moon that falls on or after the 21st of March. If the full moon happens on Sunday, Easter is celebrated one week later. (5) Of course, the ages of those participating should be taken into consideration to a certain extent. Contests are usually enjoyed. Plan with the teacher. She could undoubtedly give you excellent advice. (6) Electric curlers or electric iron are both very good. (7) No I don't. Each one has a right to his or her own opinion, however.

Dear Miss Smart: Will you kindly give me John D. Rockefeller's address and some other wealthy man whom you think would help a person out in need?

Mrs. F. J. G. John D. Rockefeller may be located at Tarrytown, N. Y. Really, I do not think that you should apply to him or any other wealthy man for assistance. They attend to their charity work thru various organizations which distribute the funds contributed as they see fit. If you wish to seek aid I would advise you to call at the Red Cross headquarters or see Charles A. Hatt, Outdoor Relief director.

"A Mass of Sores—No Sleep—Unhappy Days"

Thousands of grateful users of D.D.D. are just as enthusiastic over its wonderful results as Mr. Smith. The very first application allays the itching and burning. Just try a bottle of D.D.D. and convince yourself. Your money back if the first bottle does not bring relief. See Dr. and Mrs. T. D. D. Soap, too.

KID SCANLAN-By H. C. Witwer

A story wherein Kid Scanlan and his friends break into the movie scene, while waiting for their story to be completed. The story is by H. C. Witwer, a well-known author of the "Kid Scanlan" series. The story is a continuation of the previous one, where the kid and his friends are in the movie business.

After the kid has beat most of them up and I have took care of the rest myself, a whistle blows and they all fall back—and in rushes Genaro. "Sapristi!" he hollers. "What you mean eh? What you people do with me?"

Duke tries to see him out of his eyes. "This sounder!" he glares, pointing to the kid. "Come out here to see Richard the Third costumed like that!"

Genaro looks from me to the kid and grabs his head. "That fellow want to play Richard? No, no! You make a me laugh! You're crazy as the cat!" "What's what you call fighting champion of the world?" Genaro asks next week.

Genaro gives a yell and falls in a heap. "I pull on my coat and wipes my nose with a handkerchief." "Yes, I says, 'and they just tried to fix him so he no fight the champ.'"

We go back to the dressing-room and the kid gets on his clothes. That night, when we was as well as we could, we went to the movie. We went out to Frisco and saw the movie. When we come back the next morning, we see the kid in the gate. A man comes roaring past and says, "You boys fried Potts, the champion of the world?"

"Well, well," he pipes. "What's his mean, sir? Do you know me?" "A small fortune," says the man, pointing to the kid. "I'm sorry, boss," the kid tells me, "but all your hired men jumped at me and one of a guy has knocked himself out. He's not hurt, but he's a little dazed." "One of the camera men, another infernal kept turning the crank while the other was taking a picture. I was scared and I have proof of your villain on him!" I'll use it as a basis for my contract with you.

Along comes a guy and touches Potts on the arm. "There's waiting for you in the dressing room," he says. "Come with me—both of you!" "What's that?" says Potts. "And see for yourself the damage you caused!"

Well, they start to show the picture and everything is all right up to the time the kid busted into the scene. "One of the level it was the funniest thing I'd seen in a long time. Here was he kid knockin' em cold as fast as they come on, with their little kick hats and the pink shell tights. Potts is laughing louder than anybody in the place, and when they finally shut the thing off he slaps the kid on the back."

"Cut that strip of film off!" Potts shrieks, and takes four more reels based on the same idea. Get somebody to write a scenario around a fighter fighting into the drama and paying Shakespeare! It's never been done and if the rest of it is as good as that it will be a knockout!"

"Revenge," when the kid comes over and calls me aside and tells me he's got over to Frisco on a little shopping expedition, and he wants me to come with him.

"I'm gonna get something I've needed for a long time," he says. "What is it?" I asks him, "A clean cut?"

"I wish you'd save that comedy for some rainy Sunday," he says. "That stuff of yours is about as funny as a broken arm! Since I been out here with these swell actors, I been changing my clothes so often that I'll bet my body thinks I'm kidding it. Stop knockin' and come over to Frisco with me."

He stalks me off until we pull into the town and then he takes me to a street that was so far from the railroad station I come near castin' a stone on the way over. About half way down this boulevard there's a garage and the kid stops in front of it.

"Wait here!" he tells me. "And don't let nobody give you no babies to mind. I'll be right out!" He slips inside and I'm lookin' the joint over when a big sign catches my eye. I took one good flash at the thing, and then I starts right in after the kid.

I MARKOWITZ USED AND NEARLY NEW AUTOS FOR SALE

It was kinda dark inside and it takes me a minute to get my bearings, but finally I see the kid and a snappy dressed guy standin' in front of what I at first thought was a Pullman sleeper. When get a close up, tho, I find it's only a touring car. It was the biggest automobile I ever seen in my life; a sightseein' bus would have looked like a run-around alongside of it.

"You could believe it, you're gettin' a practically brand new car," the young feller is tellin' the kid. "The shoes are in a number one condition—all they need is now vulcanizin', and Oil—how that car could travel!"

Both him and the kid glares at me and the kid pushes me aside. "Lay off!" he says. "I know just what you're gonna say. There's no use of you tryin' to discourage me, because I'm gonna buy a car. Here I am makin' all kinds of money and might as well be a bum—no automobile or nothin'!"

"Yeh!" I comes back. "I never heard of Columbus settin' pinched for speedin' and Shakespeare never had no trouble with blowouts. For all them birds was took on as the loud crash in their time. What's the answer to that?"

In butts I Markowitz, shovin' his hat back on his ears. "That brings us right down to the present," he says. "And I could tell you why none of your friends had automobiles. Cars was too expensive in them days—a millionaires even would have to talk it over with his wife before they should buy one. But now, almost they give them away! A bargain you ask me? A man never heard a bargain like that!"

"Well, I tells him, 'All I got to say is that the bird that had it must have been fella' the police! He certainly seen a lot of the world, but I can't figure how he slept. He was what you could call a motorin' fool. It says on this speedometer here, 45,687 miles and if that guy did it in a week, I got to hand it to him! I'll bet he's so natty over speed that he's goin' around now he'll shot out of cannons from place to place, eh?"

I Markowitz gets kinda balled up and blows his nose twice. "That must be the—the motor number," he stammers.

"Sure!" nods the kid. "Don't mind him, he's always got the hammer out. Count that change and gimme a receipt."

"Come on!" he yells at me. "All aboard for Film City!"

"Ha! Ha!" I sneers. "Rave on! I wouldn't get in that thing for Rockefeller's bankroll!"

Well, he coaxed, threatened and so-forthed me, until finally I took a chance and climbed in beside him. I guess the ex-owner of this bus was on the level at that about don't them forty-five thousand miles in a week, because this car could have beat a telegram across the country. "When she got warmed up!" as I Markowitz says.

The kid was hangin' on to the steering wheel and havin' the time of his young life and was hangin' on to the seat and wishin' I had listened to that insurance agent in New York. We come to the top of a hill and as we start down the other side the price book of the county was waterin' the pavement around his real estate. When he hears us, he drops the hose which makes it all wet in front of us.

"Hold tight!" screams the kid to me. "We're gonna do a piece of skiddin'! I forgot to get chains!" Just about then we hit the damp spot and the kid puts on the brakes. Sweet cookie! You should have seen that car! It must have got sore at the man with the hose and went crazy, because it made eight complete turns tryin' to get at him and the poor simp was too scared to run. Finally the thing gives it up and shoots down to the bottom of the hill. We hit a log and I hit the one-man top. Then the motor calls it a day and stops dead. The kid hops out and walks around to the crank. Then he shakes his head and takes off one side of the hood. He sticks his hand down inside and pulls out a little brown thing that looks like a cup with a cover on it.

"No wonder she stopped!" he says, holdin' it up. "Look what I just found in here!"

I give it the once over. "What d'ye think of that, eh?" he says. "It's a wonder she run at all! I'll bet that boob mechanic left that in there when he started us off at the garage." He throws the thing in a ditch and puts the hood on. "Now," he says, "we're off for Film City!"

He grabs hold of the crank and gives it about eleven whirls, but there ain't a thing doin' and while we're stuck there like that, along comes a guy in another car.

"Can I help you fellows out?" he hollers.

"Yeh!" I yells back. "Have you got a rope?"

He comes over and looks at the thing.

"What seems to be the trouble?" he asks the kid.

"Nothin' in particular," the kid tells him. "She's a great little car only we can't get her goin'."

"Hmph!" he snorts, scratchin' his head. He opens the hood and fuses around on both sides for a minute and then he rubs the side of his nose with his finger. He looks like he was up against a tough proposition.

"There ain't nothin' the matter with it," says the other guy with an odd little grin. "Not a thing—only it ain't got no carburetor in it, that's all!"

The kid claps his hands together and yells.

"That little crook back in Frisco must have held out on me!" But I had been doin' some thinkin' and I looks the kid in the eye. "What does this curmudgeon thing look like?" I asks the other guy. He describes it to me, and when he got all thru I gives the kid another meanin' look and walks over to the ditch. After pawin' around in the mud for a while I found the little cup the kid had thrown away. "Is this it?" I asks the native. "It is," he says. "What was it doin' over there?"

"It must have fell off!" answers the kid quickly, kickin' at me to keep quiet.

Well, this guy finally fixes us up and about an hour later we hit the little road that leads into Film City, without havin' no further mishaps except the noise from that motor.

About half a mile from the gates I seen a familiar lookin' guy standin' in the middle of the road and wavin' his hands at us.

"Slow up!" I says to the kid. "Here's Genaro!"

Genaro climbs in the back of the car.

"Everything she's the matter!" he tells me, while the kid keeps his foot on the gas and we bump and clatter along the road. "Everything she's the matter! I work at morning on lasta reel of 'The Escapes of Eve.' Got two hundred extra people stand around do nothin'. Vronde, the bigga bunk, he's a play lead with Miss Vincent. Lasta reel De Vronde he's get what you call lynched. They putta rope around he's neck and he's stand under bigga tree. Joosta as they pulla rope to keel him, Miss Vincent she's come along on horse and says he's a life—you see?"

"I got you!" I tells him. "Then what happens?"

"Sapristi!" he says. "That's all! What you want for five reels? But thisa morning, Meester Potts he's rush over and stoopa the cameras. 'No!' he's yell. 'No by basstap I won't stand for that! That's rotten! You got to get difference endin' from that!'"

"What was the matter?" I asks him. "Didn't he want De Vronde saved?"

HER OWN CAREER

By PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

GWENDA PRESCRIBES

"I do believe that you are a real John o' Dreams sort of a man, living in this highly work-a-day world of ours," said Gwenda with a light laugh, at the end of John's lecture. "You must suffer at the realities that you come in contact with every day of your existence, more than I do, even. If that were possible, And it is. For I have trained myself to accept the present order of things, pretty stoically, for a young person so lately graduated from the farm-yard!"

"Suffer?" Well, that, after all, is a state of mind, and the individual learns how to relegate suffering to its proper place, very early in the game of life, Gwenda," answered John, gravely. "But I will admit to constantly receiving shocks that make me wince, way down deep, in spite of my many advantages over you."

"Did you ever try long walks as a cure for too much analyzing of life?" as we find her," inquired Gwenda, with a radiant smile. "Honor bright, they're great little braces for any shocks, and I am not trying to appear cynical, either, when I recommend them."

"I don't think you could be that if you tried, Gwenda, it's not in you, as yet, thank goodness."

"You see," continued the girl, thoughtfully, her brows ruffling up ever so little. "I've tried walks when I felt bluest, and I have always found that by the time I had done a brisk two miles or so my mind was delightfully free of all problem and prejudices. And that the only thing that worried me was my physical state of being, such as my appetite or trifles like that. By the time I had eaten a thundering good meal—Mmm! I was entirely relaxed and ready to welcome the world as it is said no questions ask."

"Everything she's the matter!" he tells me, while the kid keeps his foot on the gas and we bump and clatter along the road. "Everything she's the matter! "You're such a dear, wholesome child, really," said John, eyeing her with approval. "You're the sort of girl we turn out in my part of the country. Strong, healthy and normal in every way. You make these neurotic Villages and their smug and prime look like the best effort of a tired civilization. I hope you will remain just as you are, through all the trials and tribulations that still face you."

"Set your mind at rest on that score, my friend," answered Gwenda. "If ever I find myself slumping mentally on becoming like some of the people that I have met here, I shall know well enough that it is time to tie me back to my pies and geese again, and the everlasting sing, what he? Yes there are worse things than driving dishes three times a day, I'll agree, or making butter early in the morning. I'll definitely worse things."

"What is it, Gwenda, we chase under all the conditions in which we have been reared, isn't it, Gwenda? Never satisfied until we have got out from under, wandered up and down, been burnt a few times, and then sat us down to reflect on the many good points in flavor of the old routine," said John.

DEMPSEY AND CARPENTIER TO FIGHT FOR PERCENTAGE OF GATE RECEIPTS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—Without its loud gold clothes, Tex Rickard's fight infant probably will be permitted into more polite circles.

Since the Dempsey-Carpentier battle has turned from a colossal money grab into a sane business proposition, much of the public's animosity will be removed.

With Dempsey and Carpentier on an agreement to box for 60 percent of the gate receipts instead of a half million dollars, Rickard might even work Governor Miller's frown into a smile.

The objection of the New York state executive and the boxing commission was chiefly over the size of the purse that Rickard first offered. Of course, under the new agreement, the principals might get even more than the sum originally guaranteed, but it is considered better business to give them what the public thinks they are worth as registered at the box office.

Even if Governor Miller would allow the commission to approve of the bout, Rickard yet has that $15 top price limit to get over. It is extremely doubtful that the commission will either suspend or rescind that ruling.

Perhaps Rickard would be willing to accept 40 percent of what the bout would bring in New York, if he felt that the boxing game, which has been paying him handsomely, would not be hurt, but it is improbable that the fighters would be willing to let the firm row look at them for $15, when they might get $5 some place else.

Altho Rickard continues to keep absolutely quiet about the scene of the battle, it is considered almost sure in fight circles here that New York has been given up as hopeless and that Jersey City or Newark stands the best chance right now.

OHIO PINMEN TO COMPETE IN A.B.C.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 22.—The Ohio pinmen, who are to compete in the A.B.C. (Amateur Boxing Council) tournament, are expected to arrive in St. Louis tomorrow. The tournament is being held at the St. Louis Athletic Club, and the Ohio pinmen are expected to be among the favorites to win.

CHESS GAMES ARE GOING TOO SLOW

HAVANA, Cuba, April 22.—The chess tournament between Dr. Emanuel Lasker and Jose R. Capablanca was expected today that the fifth game of the tournament, to be begun tonight, would be marked by sensational play by the two masters. This expectation had its origin in the rapid play in the fourth game last night, which was drawn after the thirtieth move.

The first three games of the tournament were played very slowly, but Dr. Lasker and his opponent last night opened their contest at a rapid rate, making thirteen moves during the first half hour of play.

PITTSBURG PITCHERS GO THRU HARD WORKOUT

PITTSBURG, Pa.—The pitching staff of the Pittsburgh Nationals had its first real workout at the Hot Springs training camp yesterday when Walter Schmidt, star catcher, donned his mitt for the first time and put the moundmen thru the paces.

Schmidt was late in reporting for training, but when the Pacific Coast backstop said he was in good condition, Manager Gibson sent him out to work with the pitchers.

After the workout, Schmidt said the regular pitchers were in tip-top shape and that several recruits, including Chief Yellowhorse, the Oklahoma Indian, Lefty Tide and Drew Rader had impressed him as moundmen of ability.

The Pirates failed to stage a practice game yesterday, due to rain, but Gibbs hopes to send the regulars against the rookies today.

MUTT AND JEFF—MRS. SPIVIS THOUGHT IT WASN'T QUITE PROPER—

—By Bud Fish

SHORT SHAVINGS

Jones was talking to some friends of a fishing trip he was contemplating on his holiday.

"Are there any trout up there?" questioned one of the friends. "Trout? Thousands of 'em," replied the other enthusiastically. "Will they bite easily?" "Will they?" retorted Jones. "Why, they're absolutely vicious! A man has to hide behind a tree to bait his hook."

SHORT SHAVINGS
George Eckert, undertaker, marked his ballot in the circle under the rooster when he voted at the Kiwanis club on new members Tuesday.

Dale Cremona called his attention to the emblem, which resembled that at the head of Democratic tickets in regular elections. "That's the nearest I ever came to voting the straight Democrat ticket," Eckert said.

Josiah Kirby of Cleveland, who spoke to the Lima Kiwanis club at its meeting this week told a story of a farmer, who always boasted of how wise his three sons were.

"Why," he said, "according to Kirby, 'my boys are so smart in a business way' that on rainy days when they can't work outside they go down to the barn and make $30 or $40 apiece trading among themselves."

"Hereafter bring me your pay envelope as it is handed you, unbroken. There's a shrike here, explain."

"I took out my car fare and lunch money, which under the income tax law, I interpret as my personal exemption."

WHAT A TONIC DOES FOR YOU

AND WHY YOU NEED IT IN SO MANY INSTANCES WHEN YOU ARE RUN DOWN, NERVOUS OR HAVE HAD TO ENDURE GREAT STRAIN OR WORRY OF ANY KIND.

When you are run down, nervous, but not sick, downhearted and about ready to give up, experience of many years has shown that one of the best remedies to pull you out of this bad predicament is good old organic iron. But be sure the iron you take is organic iron. The kind that is found in plants, and not metallic iron, which people usually take. Organic iron may be had from your druggists under the name of Nutrated Iron. It often increases the strength, energy and endurance of work, nervous, tired out folks in two weeks' time. Beware of substitutes. Always look for the word "Nutralated" on every package and letters "N. I." on every package and the letters "N. I." on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.—Adv.

Do You Know a Baby Sick With Constipation

Tell the mother to give half a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

NO thoughtful mother with children in the house will risk being without a good, reliable laxative. It will save many a serious illness, many a doctor's visit.

When the baby cries and is fretful, when the girl is listless and feverish, when there are complaints of headaches and colds, the mother can suspect constipation. Give Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in the small dose prescribed on the bottle, when you put the child to bed, and with morning the ailment will have disappeared.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a popular compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. It acts gently and mildly, and children take it without objection. A sixty-cent bottle is enough to last an average family many months. The ingredients are endorsed in the U. S. Pharmacopoeia, and last year American mothers bought over eight million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from druggists. It is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, and few cautious families are ever without it.

TRY IT FREE

Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

Hurry mother! A teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If your child is constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has a cold, colic, or if stomach is sour tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good "physic-laxative" is often all that is necessary.

"Don't Be a Roomer— Be An Own Your Own Homer"

Serve with Oatmeal

—To bring the rose tint to women's and children's cheeks.

—To increase men's energy and vim.

Do this, madam, for tomorrow's breakfast—Stew some raisins according to the recipe printed here, and mix with the oatmeal that you serve tomorrow morning.

Do it for the added flavor—to make oatmeal more attractive.

But do it mainly for the food-iron that raisins send into the blood, and for the raisin's mildly laxative effect.

The bloom of youth

The tonic food-iron of raisins helps to bring the bloom of youth to cheeks that perhaps are paler than they should be. Then the nutriment of raisins—1560 calories per pound—gives men and children the energy they need.

For regulating, tonic and nutritious properties combined, one can find no other food that's so effective. The luscious flavor makes it easy to serve stewed raisins frequently, so there's every argument in favor of their daily use.

Try it for a month and see. Look in your pantry now. Begin tomorrow.

Send for free book, "100 Raisin Recipes." But first try the recipe printed here.

Stewed Raisins

Soak raisins over night, pour water off and place in stewpan, putting in not quite enough water to cover and cook slowly for about an hour, then sugar to taste and add a bit of vanilla. Some raisins do not require much or any sugar.

What Dr. J. H. Kellogg says:
(Dr. Kellogg is head of the famous Battle Creek Sanitarium.)

"Raisins are served on the Battle Creek Sanitarium Table every day. A pound of Raisins has twice the food value, an equal amount of iron and seven times as much food lime as a pound of choicest lean steak. The sugar of Raisins is much more wholesome than cane sugar, requiring no digestion and being absorbed in one-fourth the time required for ordinary sugar. If the American people would eat more Raisins and less meat the results would be better digestion, less rheumatism, less Bright's disease, less heart disease, greater efficiency and longer life."

SUN-MAID RAISINS

Use Sun-Maid Raisins in all your cooking, for they are the finest grown. Made from tender, juicy, thin-skinned California table grapes.

Packed in an immaculate plant in California. Clean, sweet, wholesome, American raisins—the kind you know are good.

Three varieties: Sun-Maid Seeded (seeds removed); Sun-Maid Seedless (grown without seeds); Sun-Maid Clusters (on the stem). All dealers insist upon the Sun-Maid Brand.

Send for free book, "Sun-Maid Recipes," describing scores of ways to use.
